

Your guide...

Compiled by Nuradzimmah Daim and K. Harinderan — streets@nstp.com.my

Groomed for the dream wedding

KUALA LUMPUR: Love is definitely in the air for the seven couples who have made it to the finals of Berjaya Hotels & Resorts' "Love Me Do!" online wedding contest.

Seven brides-to-be tried on different gowns while their male partners had their measurements taken for tailor-made suits.

The couples will wear the attire for a bridal photoshoot on Thursday and Friday.

World-renowned wedding photographer Edmund Tham will be photographing the seven couples.

Four couples will be whisked away to Berjaya Hills and three couples - to Berjaya Times Square Hotel & Convention Centre for the shoot.

Thung Han-Ni, director of marketing and communications, Berjaya Hotels & Resorts said: "The seven couples have put a lot of effort into their video recordings (as required by the contest) and garnered many votes from the public. "The couples' blogs were also very interesting to read and they've gone the extra mile to get people to vote for them, even going as far as distributing pamphlets at market stalls up to the final hours before voting closed."

The public can next vote for the top three couples from these seven finalists.

The winning couple will receive an all-expenses paid and planned designer beach wedding at Berjaya Langkawi Beach & Spa Resort.

For more information or to vote for your favourite couple, visit www.lovemedia.com.my.

Chew Kai Yuen is measured for his suit at Resposed.

The brides-to-be pose for the camera with Kris Wong (fourth from left) and Thung Han-Ni.

Wei Nee gets her gown fitted by Kris Wong from That Special Occasion.

Ng Chor Hao is prepared for the big day.